Art Unit: 3634

The finality of the rejection dated 8.28.02 has been withdrawn in view of the newly discovered Japanese pat. '002 to Anglehart showing alternating wood grains.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 6, the limitation "said two outer boards" lacks antecedent basis.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anguera '191. To use wood for the boards of Anguera having the claimed modulus of elasticity and fiber bending strength, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient, by the selection from readily available resources depending on the bending strength and stiffness desired.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Denmark pat. '807 to Larsen. To use wood for the boards of Larsen having the claimed modulus of elasticity and fiber bending strength, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient, by the selection from readily available resources depending on the bending strength and stiffness desired.

Claims 1-5,7-12 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larsen in view of Anguera '191. Larsen shows the claimed composite planks with the exception of the at least three spaced helical pins. Anguera teaches the use of at least three square cross-section helical pins for pinning composite boards. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Larsen or with at least three spaced helical pins, as taught by Anguera, for compressively pinning his boards together. To use wood for the boards of Larsen having the claimed modulus of elasticity and fiber bending strength, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient, by the selection from readily available resources depending on the bending strength and stiffness desired, furthermore, to make his plank and boards of the claimed dimensions, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient depending on the size of the plank desired.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larsen and Anguera as applied to claim 8 above, and further in view of Bouton. Bouton shows the use of three wooden boards to form a scaffold plank. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Larsen for his plank to be made up of three boards, as taught by Bouton, in lieu of the four shown, to enable the use of fewer number of elements to form his plank. Furthermore, to make his plank and boards of the claimed dimensions, would have been an obvious mechanical expedient depending on the size of the plank desired.

Claim 6 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larsen, Anguera and Bouton as applied to claim 9 above, and further in view of Japanese pat. '022 to Anglehart. Anglehart teaches the method of alternating the wood grains of side-by-side boards to enable a high resistance to warpage. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Larsen for his boards to be arranged with alternating wood grains, as taught by Anglehart, to resist warpage of his plank.
